ANGRY SLAVS SET FIRE TO SHACK

Disgruntled Employees Cause Lots of Trouble East of Town. Burn Fellow Employees' Clothes. Free-for-all Fight.

Following a fire, in which the clothing of a dozen or more men was destroyed, and a fight in which about twenty men were involved, six Slavs were placed in the county jail on Friday afternoon, given a hearing in the evening and held for trial at April term of Court.

All parties concerned were employed by the Western Maryland railroad at their work of grading for a new track in the East End of town. The six Slavs decided to quit and demanded their pay. It was refused, it is said, and, much agitated, they started for the shack in which all their belongings were located. This building was originally the camp post office at the time of the big maneuvers here several years ago and recently was rebuilt by the Western Maryland for the use of the workmen who are handling their improvements about Gettysburg. The entire gang of about twenty men used the place for sleeping and eating.

After getting out their own clothing the six hands started for the York pike and the others, some distance away, soon saw smoke arising from the building. Grabbing up pick handles, coupling pins or anything that they could find, the balance—a dozen or more in number—and mostly negroes, started for the quitting foreigners. They "got together" in a few minutes and the biggest free-for-all fight that this section has seen for many a day was soon in progress.

Many bloody faces resulted and the whole party tumbled about in the road, fighting and swearing to the best of their ability. By the time the fight was over the shack had burned to the ground together with all the belongings of those who remained at work and what bedclothing was used by them.

Local officers were notified to pursue the fleeing six and, in Murray Wilson's automobile, County Detective Long and Chief of Police Shearer made a quick run down the Hunters-town Road from which they crossed over to the York Pike and soon headed off the offenders. J. G. Slonaker was hurried to the scene in his automobile and the two cars brought back the offending foreigners who are now occupying cells in Sheriff Thompson's bastille.

IRVING CONCERT

Irving College Girls Gave Good Concert on Friday Evening.

A large audience greeted the Irving College girls in St. James Chapel on Friday evening and an excellent concert was given by the young ladies from the Mechanicsburg school. The program included a number of selections by the glee club, several readings, and two piano numbers by Miss Senft. The solos by Miss Orr and Miss Singiser were worthy of special mention as was also a quartet number. Miss Geiple, the reader, was heartily received by the audience every time she appeared, and her readings were followed by very vigorous applause. After the concert members of the club were guests at several informal dances in the fraternity houses at college.

ALMOST MET HER DEATH IN WELL

West Middle Street Scene of Narrow Escape from Drowning. Rotten Boards over Well Suddenly Gave way.

Falling through several decayed boards which covered an old well at the home of William Little, on West Middle street, Miss Marie Eckenrode, of Altoona, who has spent the past year at the Little home, narrowly escaped drowning on Friday evening.

The boards which covered the well were not known to be decayed and other members of the family had walked over them during the day. They suddenly gave way, however, as the young lady stepped on them and she fell through. The presence of several cross-pieces half way down the well alone saved her from drowning. Fortunately she struck them feet first, and remained standing in water which reached almost to her chin, until help arrived.

The well is quite deep and, had she not fallen on these cross-pieces, there is little doubt that the accident would have had a tragic result. Luther McDonnell was in the yard adjoining when Miss Eckenrode fell, and he summoned help. It was several minutes before the young lady could be gotten out but, aside from a thorough drenching, she suffered no ill effects from the experience.

PRaise FOR EDDIE

The feat of Eddie Plank on the base ball diamond Friday caused this morning's city papers to devote much space in praise of Gettysburg's hero. The Philadelphia Press says:

The polished pitching of Eddie Plank, the daddy of them all in the matter of usefulness in his particular sphere, turned New York club swingers back to the bench with regularity of the ticking of a watch yesterday when the Athletics made it three victories out of four starts against Frank Chance and his Yankees. Score 4 to 0.

Mack's grand old southpaw—old in years as well as in point of service with the Athletics—gave the best exhibition of pitching staged in the major leagues this season with the ease of a farmer raking his potatoes. As cool as a cucumber and as calculating as a bank clerk, Plank allowed only twenty-nine men to bat against his cross-fire. This is only two more than the regulation number of nine innings. He showed that his control was true by not permitting a base on balls.

Not once did a New York runner advance so far as third base. It was considered some feat to reach second off the thirty-eight-year-old Plank, who is starting his twelfth season as a member of the Athletics in an auspicious way. Thrice New York base runners reached the middle sack, but on all three occasions they failed to advance any further.

In seven of the nine innings, the Yankees were retired in one, two, three order. As a matter of fact there were only two clean bingles off the delivery of the veteran cross-fire artist.

MAKE CHANGES

Residents Near Pen-Mar Are Making Improvements.

Cottage owners on the mountain in the vicinity of Pen-Mar park, are beginning to get their places in shape for the coming summer. James Purdy, proprietor of the trolley station lunch room, is completing the extensive addition to his establishment. Arthur Holmes, recently manager of the Dagmar hotel, Hagerstown, has leased the Glendon cottage on the High Rock road, from J. M. Newcomer, for the summer. Mr. Holmes is regrading the walks and mounds damaged by the recent rains. The skating rink which is being constructed near the trolley station, at Pen-Mar park, is well under way.

AUTO FIRE ENGINE

Littlestown Company Gets an Auto Fire Engine.

The committee appointed by Alpha Fire Company of Littlestown for the purpose of purchasing an auto truck, contracted with a representative of the Martin Works, of York, for a combination chemical and hose truck, to be delivered in ninety days. The truck weighs 4000 pounds, and has a 4-cylinder motor 35 H. P., solid detachable tires, two 35 gallon chemical tanks and necessary hose for same, basket to carry 1,000 feet 3-inch hose, etc. The price paid was $1,950. The list price of the machine was $3,250 but the firemen were allowed $1,300 for the chemical engine.

STATE MEN HERE TO ENFORCE LAW

Two Officers Sent by State to Enforce Dog Quarantine now in Effect in Four Towns and Five Near by Townships.

Dog quarantines were put into effect this morning in Gettysburg, Biglerville, Arendtsville and Bendersville and in the following townships, Straban, Cumberland, Butler, Menallen and Franklin. Two officers, commissioned by the State Livestock Sanitary Board for the purpose, are on duty and will patrol the four towns and five townships, shooting all dogs at large that are not both licensed and muzzled.

The yellow posters have been posted and the work of killing off all unprotected dogs will be started immediately. The officers will spend a portion of their time in Gettysburg and the balance will be spent in the quarantined portions of the county. The killing of a lot of unclaimed canines is expected.

Burgess Holtzworth has promised the assistance of the town authorities in enforcing the quarantine and will instruct the police of the town to help the state officers in killing all untagged and unmuzzled dogs.

A fresh outbreak of the mad dog agitation occurred at Knoxlyn on Friday when J. Byron Horner was attacked by a dog frothing at the mouth. The animal caught his trousers leg while Mr. Horner was working about the mill and it was with difficulty that he prevented the dog from getting hold of the flesh. He succeeded, however, and after beating off the animal, got his gun, followed it and succeeded in killing it. It is not known to whom the dog belonged or from where it came.

DECLINES CALL

Rev. Mr. Trowbridge Declines Call to Become Local Pastor.

Rev. Charles R. Trowbridge, of Easton, has decided to decline the call to become pastor of College Church, Gettysburg. A unanimous call was extended to him at a congregational meeting last Sunday and it was thought at that time that Mr. Trowbridge would accept. The news of the action came as a surprise to him as he did not know that his name was being considered by the Gettysburg congregation. It is said that the reason for not accepting is because Mr. Trowbridge feels the demands and responsibilities of the charge too great for him to undertake.

800 POUND SILL

Eight Hundred Pound Piece of Lumber for Sill.

Forestry Commissioner Conklin went to the Graffenburg inn this week to inspect the improvements being made there. The masonry of the kitchen, under the direction of Scott Miner, is completed and the main sill supporting the floor, was laid. It is supported by a stone foundation and brick pier. It is a solid timber of white pine weighing about 800 pounds and requiring eight men to handle. It was sawed from a tree at Mont Alto of about eighty years growth.

LECTURES AT POULTRY SHOW

Biglerville Poultry Show to have an Added Feature. Two Lecturers for Afternoons and Evenings. Other Arrangements.

Managers of the Biglerville poultry show are making arrangements for the exhibit whereby each afternoon and evening will have as special features of the show a lecture by some well recognized expert. It is the plan to have these lectures in the same building as the show and a very attractive program is to be outlined. As the exhibit is to last for four days much ground can be covered by the lecturers.

There will be several divisions to the show as there were this last January and each will have its own instructors. F. G. Wile of Telford, this state, will lecture on Wednesday evening, the opening day of the show, on "Poultry for Profit" and C. C. Cornman, of Carlisle, will be retained during the entire week for lectures and instructions that the people interested in poultry may want.

Mr. Cornman, it will be recalled, was the judge of poultry at the first show and he will again be on duty in this capacity for the second show, having the assistance of Mr. Wile. Both are recognized as poultry authorities and will doubtless give satisfaction to the county poultry raisers.

The dates for the show are December 31, January 1, 2 and 3.

Freak Custom Again Appears at the Institution of Learning.

The freak idea of having their hair clipped has suddenly appeared among members of the Sophomore class at college and practically the entire class has followed the example of a few leading spirits. Those who failed to adopt the idea voluntarily were visited by a committee of the self-styled "Convicts' Club" who so disfigured their locks that thorough clipping was made necessary.

MAKES GOOD

York Springs Boy Making Good at Professional Base Ball.

The News and Observer of Raleigh, N. C., has the following to say of James Myers, the former York Springs pitcher:—

"The Battleship Louisiana team, rated as the champions of Uncle Sam's navy, with a record of 17 victories out of 19 games this season, was no match with the Raleigh Capitals who won by score of 10 to 0. Big Myers did the twirling for Raleigh and five hits, no two coming in the same inning, was the best the visitors could do. This lad struck out eight batters, secured one hit and scored one of the runs. His curves broke well and at no time was he in danger."

"TARINE enters—moths fly out. It's fly or die. This up-to-date, most efficient moth suffocator, fragrant product of the salubrious pine tree is made into large moth sheets for wrapping garments and lining trunks, and into moth bags (with hooks inside to hang garments)". pose you've heard the news?"

At these words a young lieutenant who had sat silently in an opposite corner reading a copy of the Richmond Dispatch, weeks old, threw down the paper and listened attentively.

"Let us know the worst, Captain Warner," urged Cox. "We're used to it—haven't got feelings any more, you know. What's the news?"

"Oh, some more fighting in the valley, you know. Yanks licked out of their boots again, as usual. More prisoners, more hard luck stories."

"What's that?" cried Deacon Hart. "Another fight? More prisoners? Oh, Lord!"

"You're on the religious, aren't you?" inquired the commissary scoldingly.

"I'm a shouting Methodist these forty years, thank the Lord," answered the deacon, holding his hand of cards behind his back.

"Well, your shouting hasn't benefited Abe Lincoln nor yourself very much so far. You'd better swing around and pray for Jeff Davis, I reckon, and be on the safe side."

"Never, till this right hand"—putting out his left with the cards, then jerking it back and holding up the right—"shall lose its cunning."

"Oh, go ahead, deacon, and pray for Jeff Davis if they want you to," suggested Cox. "He'll need it before this war's over."

"You can talk with your friends just from the front about that," retorted Warner gruffly. "Here's one of 'em coming upstairs now."

A measured tramp was heard approaching outside. The commissary opened the door, and the new Union prisoner was marched in between two guards. He saluted and introduced himself.

"Gentlemen, permit me. I am Colonel Cogswell of the Forty-second New York city," exclaimed Lieutenant Bedloe, sotto voce.

Captain Cox returned the new-comer's salute and responded:

"We have heard of you, colonel, and we are right proud to meet you. My comrades here are Captain Hunt of Kentucky, Chaplain Hart of Indiana and Lieutenant Bedloe, from—why, from your own state, I believe. I am Captain Cox of the Tenth Kentucky."

Colonel Cogswell shook hands all around and said:

"I am fortunate to have the honor of sharing your quarters. I don't suppose you find it exactly homesome here."

"The place is quite populous," it seems as if the fortunes of war had placed out the flower of our army to pine away in infernal holes like this, for an hour of action!"

"Just wait till the exchange," said the hopeful Hart. "With a dozen men like us they might redeem a whole Confederate regiment."

"I understand," said Ralph Hunt gloomily. "that their idea is to get the well kept Confederate prisoners back from the Union camps and send us as living skeletons in exchange."

"Do you think, Colonel Cogswell," asked Cox, "that things are going as badly with us in the valley and elsewhere as they try to make out?"

"Yes, and a sight worse, I should say, at the present moment."

"Then," interposed Hart tragically, "all is lost save honor."

The colonel drew himself up proudly, glanced around to make sure that the commissary and guard had retired, then with a superb dramatic gesture opened the coat of his uniform, which had been tightly buttoned up to his chin, and displayed the stars and stripes wrapped around his body.

"Not all lost, sir. Our colors, by God!"

The prisoners rushed forward, their eyes bulging and cheeks glowing with patriotic ardor. Even poor Hunt rose excitedly from his couch.

"Three cheers, boys," cried Cox. "All together let her go!"

"They gave a rousing round of cheers that brought Captain Warner rushing back into the room.

"Come, come, gentlemen! Remember where you are. This ain't Washington. What are you feeling so ornery about?"

"We were just welcoming an old friend," explained Cox.

"And, besides, cap," interposed Hart, "ain't this Thanksgiving eve? How about them pumpkin pies we ordered and paid for in good United States money?"

"That's a fact," answered the commissary. "Well, the cook tackled 'em, according to directions. They ought to be pretty high done by this time. Queer grub, that."

At this juncture the door opened and immediately a joyous commotion ensued.

"The pie! Oh, pumpkin pie! Attention, all! Salute the pastry! Let the noble pumpkin approach its doom with military honors."

The prisoners drew up in line opposite Captain Warner, while in march ed a dignified old negro with a red bandanna turban on her head, bearing aloft in both hands a platter containing an enormous pie. This she solemnly deposited on the table, then turned and made her exit in silence, saluted profoundly by the company.

"Chaplain Hart will ask a blessing—will you join us, Captain Warner?"

"No, thank you," replied the commissary, making his exit. "The atmosphere's getting too Yankeeified to suit me, and I'll beg to be excused."

Knife in hand, Hart stood in an attitude of devotion at the head of the table.

"All I can say is, Lord bless this 'ere pie"—then, as an expression of horror and disgust overspread his homely face—and the Lord help us after we've eaten it! Why, darn my skin. If they ain't gone and put an upper crust on a pumpkin pie! And the pumpkin cut into hunks as big as your fist, without no milk nor sugar, and not half baked, neither."

"The devil! Those Virginia darkies are good cooks, but they don't know what pumpkin pie is."

Deacon Hart eyed the pie and distributed slabs all around, remarking philosophically:

"The blacks must be freed and educated. Think of a whole race in such benighted ignorance as this!"

The attack had scarcely begun when Captain Warner once more appeared at the door, making a sign which all the imprisoned officers instantly understood.

"Stir up the animals, boys!" whispered Hart. "Visitors coming."

"Petticoats, too," added Cox, looking out.

A pretty, vivacious young woman, escorted by a sinister looking Confederate officer, who singled out Lieutenant Bedloe with a malicious sneer and received a flashing look of silent scorn and defiance in return, were shown in by the commissary.

"This is the Potomac room, Miss Mason. Gentlemen, a southern lady pays you the honor of a visit."

Captain Cox bowed courteously, while all his comrades stood in the background.

"Madam, be assured of our grateful appreciation. It is a long time since we have seen a woman's face. We are not exactly fixed up for company, but—" At this point he looked into her shining eyes and in sudden overwhelming recognition exclaimed: "Great heavens! Marie—Miss Mason—I am not mistaken?"

"No, Tom," she answered sweetly, "you are not mistaken. Oh, what a horrid place!"

"Yes, you find us at a disadvantage I say 'us,' for, as you see, Ralph is here too."

"Oh, dear! how terrible! You poor, foolish boys! And how is it with you, Ralph?"

"Thank you—not much worse than when I parted from you at Lexington."

"What a pair of rash, headstrong boys! Why did you desert the south?" "Wasn't it the south that did the deserting? Oh, but don't let us talk politics."

"It just breaks my heart to see you here, both of you—yes, all of you," said the young woman, looking around sympathetically. Then she took from under her cloak a cigar box and a couple of bottles wrapped in a newspaper and set them on the table beside the sorry looking wreck of the pumpkin pie.

"I've brought you a few cigars and things to cheer you up. Wasn't I thoughtful?"

"Bless your pretty face and gentle heart, miss," Deacon Hart said fervently. "What a pity you're seceded!"

"Well, she seems to lean toward the Union side anyway," whispered Colonel Cogswell, as Captain Cox and the fair visitor conversed in low, earnest tones, with their heads very close together.

The Union men had gradually dropped behind the screen of a wooden partition at the far end of the room while Captain Warner and the other Confederate officer stood just outside the door.

"Why, they have all gone," said the young woman, blushing slightly.

"Yes, we do that when any one has a visitor. Marie, we are alone for a moment."

She buried her face in her handkerchief and began to weep.

"To think we should meet again like this!"

"You didn't come here just to say that, Marie. You are tickle, but not deliberately cruel."

"It is you who are cruel, when you talk like that. Oh, Tom! You know I love you."

"Do I? How?"

"I have come here to save you."

"To save me?"

"Yes or to tell you how you can be saved, I think. General Winder is coming."

"General Winder, the provost marshal of Richmond? You say he is coming here to Libby prison?"

"Yes, right now—this evening. I coaxed him to get me permission for to visit you."

"To visit me?"

"Yes, to tell you how you can be saved, I think. General Winder is coming."

"General Winder, the provost marshal of Richmond? You say he is coming here to Libby prison?"

SCHWAB GETS BIG SHIP YARD

Experts See in Purchase a Big Steel War.

Quincy, Mass., April 26.—It was announced officially that the Fore River Shipbuilding company, which is building a gigantic battleship, nine submarines and two destroyers for the government, has just been sold to the Bethlehem Steel company, of which Charles M. Schwab is the head.

The Schwab interests are said to have elaborate plans on foot to enlarge the plant at Fore River and to increase activities there. Experts interpret this sale as the opening gun in a steel war. They say it means that Schwab has resolved to "face it alone" in a defined attempt to smash the "billion dollar steel trust."

The Fore River plant comprises shipbuilding and engine works covering 110 acres of ground. The company was incorporated in 1904 as a successor to the Fore River Ship and Engine company, with a capitalization of $2,400,000 common stock and an equal amount of preferred.

This makes the fourth shipbuilding plant acquired by the Bethlehem Steel corporation. Its other plants are located at Wilmington, Del.; San Francisco and Elizabethport, N. J.

LEHIGH VALLEY LOSES

Commerce Court Refuses to Enjoin Rate
Order by Commerce Commission.

Washington, April 26.—The commerce court denied the application of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company for an injunction to restrain the interstate commerce commission from enforcing its order reducing rates on anthracite coal from the Wyoming region, in Pennsylvania, to Atlantic ocean tidewater, at Perth Amboy, N. J.

Counsel for the Lehigh Valley urged that the reduction would cut the income of the road to about 4 per cent on an alleged total valuation of the property of $312,000,000, which amounted to confiscation. The carrier maintained it was entitled to an income of 8 per cent.

The commerce court held that a case of confiscation was not made out. The decision sustains the authority of the commission to determine whether a given set of rates is or is not reasonable, entirely irrespective of what rates on other classes of shipments may be.

It was held in effect that the carrier has no assured right to earn any fixed percentage of profit on its investment, regardless of whether a particular rate is reasonable.

POPE PIUS MUCH BETTER

Rome, April 26.—Pope Pius is much better. Cardinal Merry del Val informed Right Rev. Joseph Schrembs, bishop of Toledo, that the pope "is suffering from the consequences of an attack of grip, which would have been passed unnoticed if it had affected an ordinary person."

TY COBB SIGNS CONTRACT

After Conference With Navin "Hold-Out" Player Accepts Terms.

Detroit, Mich., April 26.—After a conference with President Navin, Ty Cobb, centerfielder of the Detroit American League base ball club, attached his name to a 1913 contract.

The terms were not given out. Application to the National Commission for Cobb's reinstatement was immediately made to the National Commission.

The conference between President Navin and Cobb lasted about two hours. Both emerged from the conference room smiling, and when they were asked for the contract terms they smiled more broadly, but refused to give out any information.

If the National Commission acts on Cobb's reinstatement promptly it is expected he will be in shape to play within a week.

CHILD COMES TO LIFE IN COFFIN

Grandmother Sees It and Then Falls Dead.

Butte, Cal., April 26.—While members of the family and relatives were grouped about the open coffin of Mrs. J. R. Burney's three-year-old son lying in state, the body moved and presently the child, clad in its shroud, sat up.

His eyes caught those of his grandmother, Mrs. L. P. Smith, eighty-one years old. The aged woman stared at the child as if hypnotized. Then she sank into a chair, dead.

As she fell the child dropped back into its coffin, from which it was quickly snatched by the mother.

A physician said there was no hope for the boy, and death came a few hours later. Then there were two coffins in the Burney home and double services were held.

NOT HELD FOR MURDER

Tower City Man Released as Accomplice, But Must Testify at Trial.

Pottsville, Pa., April 26.—Edward Hummel, who with his sister, Bertha, of Tower City, has been in the county jail here for the past two days on suspicion of being an accomplice in the murder of his father, was released from jail, the authorities admitting that they could not connect him with the deed.

Hummel gave bail to appear as a witness in court at the May sessions, when his sister will be placed on trial for murder.

A motive for the crime was for the first time hinted at by the prosecution. It is alleged that the elder Hummel was a wealthy man, and if he got married, as he talked of doing, this money would be diverted from his children.

These stoves are on exhibit in our warehouse—the building formerly occupied by The Straw Stacker Co., near the P. & R. Station.

It is useless to attempt to bake when a stove will not respond to your efforts—when you are unable to secure proper oven temperature. One of the features of our stoves is the easy control. The immediate response to the change of dampers and draughts.

Girl Nearly Plunges From Head of Statue of Liberty.

New York, April 26.—Eighteen-year-old Margaret Donovan was saved from a 300-foot fall from the head of the Statue of Liberty by her chum, Gladys Revere, who caught hold of her dress just as she was slipping from the window ledge that surrounds Miss Liberty's crown.

Screaming for help, Miss Revere held onto the dress with both hands until other sightseers came to the rescue and dragged the girl in feet first. Miss Donovan ventured out on the ledge on a "dare" and became dizzy.

GOVERNORS WILL MEET BRYAN

To Join in Conference Over
Land Bill Aimed at Japs.

TROUBLE FOR SECRETARY

Plank in Democratic Platform of 1908 Referring to Aliens Will Be Recalled and Explanations Asked.

Sacramento, Cal., April 26.—No further action in regard to the proposed anti-Japanese land legislation will be taken until the arrival here next Monday afternoon of Secretary of State Bryan.

A resolution will be introduced in both houses of the legislature calling for a conference of all the Pacific coast state governors. The executives will be invited to Sacramento to discuss the alien land bills now in the legislature with Governor Johnson and Secretary Bryan.

Senator Thompson is framing a new alien land bill which will apply solely to members of foreign races described in federal laws and judicial decisions as ineligible to citizenship in the United States.

When Secretary Bryan arrives he will be confronted with the new draft of the bill and the question of whether or not it is discriminatory.

Governor Johnson has issued another statement defending the land bill aimed at the Japanese, declaring that if they are undesirable as citizens they are undesirable as land owners in California.

TROUBLE FOR BRYAN

Secretary May Be Embarrassed by Plank in 1908 Platform.

Washington, April 26.—It has developed here that Mr. Bryan may face embarrassment when he reaches Sacramento because of a plank in the Democratic platform in 1908 referring to aliens.

Californians assert that Mr. Bryan was sponsor for the plank and will now have to "hedge" or to some clever explanation. This plank reads:

"We favor full protection by both national and state governments with in their respective spheres of all foreigners residing in the United States under treaty, but we are opposed to the admission of Asiatic immigrants who cannot be assimilated with our population, or whose presence among us would raise a race issue and involve us in diplomatic controversy with Oriental powers."

In view of the treaty with Japan negotiated by Secretary Knox, there may be opportunity for debate, it is urged, but altogether it is believed that Mr. Bryan, as well as the whole Democratic party, is in an embarrassing position.

President Wilson expressed confidence that Bryan's mission would result in materially relieving the situation. He would not state the reasons for his optimism, but said that the prospects looked hopeful.

VICE PROBERS RAP $25,000,000 CONCERN

Many Girls Working For Starvation Wages.

Springfield, Ill., April 26.—The International Shoe company, a $25,000,000 corporation, with a branch factory in Springfield, was excoriated by the Illinois senate vice commission at its inquiry.

S. W. Derby, superintendent of the Springfield factory, was on the witness stand, following the testimony of several girl employees, and assumed a defiant attitude.

"I want to tell you, Mr. Derby, that I for one wish I had the power to drive your concern from Illinois," said Senator Juhl. "You are a disgrace to the state."

Agnes McGill, twenty-one years old, testified to her experiences as an employee of the company. She said she started in the box factory at $3 a week, and received increases until she was paid $7 a week. The girls in the department were driven at top speed, she testified, the foreman cursing them when they failed to turn out as much work as he desired. On a half dozen different occasions, she testified, she fainted from excessive exertion. She told of the foreman seizing girls and shaking them when they displeased him.

Pearl Briggs, twenty-one years old, testified to her employment, first in a physician's office at $3 a week, then as a domestic at $2.50 a week, and then at the factory, where she started at $3 a week. She finally was receiving $6 a week when she was transferred to piecework, at which she was able to make only from $2.75 to $5 a week.

Mary Barnes, sixteen years old, testified to working for a watch tool company. She was paid $3 for the first week, and then was put on piece work at which she was able to earn only 50 cents a day. Previously she received $2.75 a week as cash girl in a store.

Sylvia Kane, aged seventeen, said she began work at the watch tool factory at $3 a week, and after the week was put on piece work, at which she was able to earn only 30, 40 or 50 cents a day. Wages were paid once a month.

Package Containing Powder and Cartridges Found With Fuse Burning.
Philadelphia, April 26.—A bomb, charged with two pounds of giant gunpowder and sixteen 32-caliber loaded cartridges, was found under a desk in the offices of the L. P. White Watch Case company, Ninth and Chestnut streets, with a burning fuse attached.

The White establishment is on the second floor of the Bird building. The bomb was directly beneath the desk of the head of the firm, L. P. White. Mr. Coates, the manager, said it some thing burnt, and upon investigation discovered the fuse which led to the package containing the explosives.

The gunpowder and cartridges were in a green pasteboard box, which was encased in wrapping paper. Mr. Coates stamped on the fuse and it sputtered out. Then he sent for a detective, who took the bomb to police headquarters. Mr. White said he knew no reason why any one should place a bomb in his office.

The Season for Ice Is Now Here

The Gettysburg Ice & Storage Company will sell ice this summer at the same price, thirty cents per hundred pounds, retail, as in former years.

The impression has become somewhat general that on account of the shortage of natural ice harvested this winter, and because of the large crowds expected during the summer months the Gettysburg Ice & Storage Company would increase the price of their product. This impression is entirely erroneous. It is the policy of the company not to take an advantage of this nature.

Their purpose is to merit the patronage and confidence of the public by fair, open treatment and by maintaining the quality of their products.
